TIFF HIGHLIGHTS

Modernity, originality and diversity

French cinema will most certainly send a good vibe to the world from Toronto this year, with a particularly rich and strong slate of films including 36 features and 5 shorts. This selection will provide a glimpse of the incredible diversity of French cinema, ranging from audience-driven genre films to high-profile independent works, powerful documentaries and quirky discoveries.

This program stands out as proof that contemporary French cinema is, more than ever, a genuine modern melting pot that is open to the world with an amazing capacity to combine cultural and multi-ethnic influences. Its ability to bring together international talents and reach out to global locations reminds us that France is still a vibrant creative hub for both independent and mainstream cinema on the world stage. According to a survey carried out in May of this year, 74% of worldwide

"French cinema continues to be one of the dominant voices in the world of international cinema as their filmmakers are unafraid to deal with a wide variety of subjects in a manner that is both provocative and entertaining. We are honoured to introduce such a strong lineup of French films to the audience, media and industry that gathers in Toronto every September. The long love affair between our festival and French cinema deepens every year."

Piers Handling (TIFF CEO and director) & Cameron Bailey (TIFF artistic director)

cinema audiences said they appreciate French cinema output, and this proportion is even higher in North America (81%).

Rising talents and acclaimed artists

UniFrance films is also proud to introduce a major delegation of renowned artists and a pool of new talent at TIFF this year. Juliette Binoche will be there to meet the Canadian audience during an exceptional masterclass and to present Clouds of Sils Maria, together with director Olivier Assayas. Omar Sy, Charlotte Gainsbourg and Tahar Rahim will introduce the world premiere of Samba, the highly anticipated new movie by Eric Toledano and Olivier Nakache (the directors of The Intouchables). Romain Duris and Anaïs Demoustier will attend a gala screening of The New Girlfriend, the latest love intrigue by François Ozon. And Jean Dujardin, Gilles Lellouche and Cédric Jimenez will present an ambitious historical thriller set in Marseille in the 1970's, La French.

Numerous French directors, actors, producers and sales agents will be gathered for this key North American industry event, and we are grateful for their endless energy in promoting their films.

UniFrance films stands as a stalwart supporter of this wide diversity and passion that makes French cinema so unique.

Jean-Paul Salomé (President UniFrance films) & Isabelle Giordano (Executive Director UniFrance films)

One day, one life. Rome, the night of November 2nd 1975, the great Italian poet and filmmaker Pier Paolo Pasolini is murdered. Pasolini is the symbol of an art that's fighting against the power. His writings are scandalous, his films are persecuted by the censors, many people love him and many hate him. The day of his death, Pasolini spends his last hours with his beloved mother and later on with his dearest friends, and finally goes out into the night in search of adventure in the eternal city.

In Syria, everyday, YouTubers film then die; others kill then film. In Paris, driven by my inexhaustible love for Syria, I find that I can only film the sky and edit the footage posted on YouTube. From within the tension between my estrangement in France and the revolution, an encounter happened. A young Kurdish from Homs began to chat with me, asking: "If your camera were here, in Homs, what would you be filming?"

Silvered Water is the story of that encounter.
